1000 central cite receives call identification information -105 and corresponding response instructions from a remote user. central Cité receives a call. -110 The call is automatically identified. -115 The call is automatically responded to in accordance -120 with the corresponding response instructions received from the remote USEr.

Fig. 1

